Speaking of Ethics – A Blogger Bashing

*Neil Neroutsos, APR
Past President/Ethics Officer*

Unfair or not, TechCrunch blogger MG Siegler recently unleashed an attack on PR types in the tech industry. "The fact of the matter is that the entire PR industry is like a weed growing out of control," he stated. "What they do is nothing more than attempt to spin or grossly misrepresent what it is we do. It's all about controlling a narrative—by any means necessary." Siegler did concede that many communicators are "nice people" and "very good at what they do." So how do you respond? Is this simply the belligerent ranting of an overworked tech writer? Or is there some merit to his perspective? Our PRSA Professional Values call for the "highest standards of accuracy and truth in advancing the interests of those we represent." Think about it. Have you ever fallen short? Learn more about our Code of Ethics by visiting the PRSA website. And please email me with your comments!
